When you click one of the linked PDFs, wait until it is done loading in Safari.

Click the “open in iBooks” button to download to your device.

With big files like the FCP 7 manual this can take a minute, but you’ll be rewarded with a local, searchable easy to read version that you can keep next to you when you work in FCP.

Android users, please test, and write an Android workflow for us. Leave it in the comments.
